

EU Declaration of Conformity

The declaration of conformity only applies to the following products

|                                  |                                                                                      |                      |                 |
|----------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------------|-----------------|
| Company name :                   | JHIH HONG TECHNOLOGY CO.,LTD..                                                       |                      |                 |
| Address :                        | 6F, No.15, Wu Chuan Road, New Taipei Industrial Park, New Taipei City 24886,Taiwan   |                      |                 |
| Product:                         | Li-Mn button cell                                                                    | Model :              | CR2032-M1S8(LF) |
| Brand name:                      | Maxell                                                                               | Cell/Battry type :   | Lithium metal   |
| Primary or rechargeable:         | Primary                                                                              | Nominal voltage :    | 3.0V            |
| Nominal capacity :               | 220mAh                                                                               | Weight of 1 battery: | 3.48g           |
| Identification of traceability : | The production date is indicated on the battery body                                 |                      |                 |
| Battery photo:                   |  |                      |                 |

The content covered by this statement meets the following standards:

Our products comply with the provisions of the European Union Regulation (EU) 2023/1542 and meet the requirements of ISO 9001&ISO 14001.

Signature:

Company seal:

Date of issue: 2024/05/23

Place of issue: Zhongli Taoyuan